6000 Rush To Hills In Flooded District

EXPECT MOMENTARILY TO SEE HOMES
SINK INTO QUICKSANDS OF VALLEY

Beardstown, Illinois, April 15.—Six thousand persons huddled on the heights near Beardstown today, anxiously waiting to see whether their homes will be swallowed up by the quicksands on which they are built. The homeless in this town are resigned to the possibility today that any moment might see a rush of turbid waters stretch like a quilt over the area where their homes stand. The west and south ends of Beardstown are built on quicksands. Three homes had begun to sink and pavements were being broken up today. The refugees have taken shelter with friends or in tents pitched on high localities.

Chicago, Illinois, April 15.—Following five weeks of nearly daily rain, rivers in the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri basins were overflowing today, causing millions of dollars of property damage and intense suffering. Hundreds have been driven from their homes. The heaviest loss will be suffered by farmers through the drowning of livestock and through inability to prepare fields for crops. The damage was most severe along the Illinois River, where levees have given way, flooding thousands of acres of land. Beardstown, Illinois, whose six thousand population is accustomed to floods, has experienced the greatest high water loss in its history.

Peoria, Ill., April 15.—Flood waters sweeping down the Illinois River have caused property damage estimated at five million dollars. Weakened levees protecting valuable lands along the river beds in Illinois were giving way before the rush of water. Families fled to higher ground during the night after a warning that a levee protecting the district might give way any minute releasing a 20 foot wall of water.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—President Harding will go to Cleveland sometime in September to take the Supreme Masonic Degree from the Lodge there. The date for the trip has not been set nor has it been determined how long the President will remain there.

SIZE OF NAVY BIG
ISSUE IN HOUSE
THIS AFTERNOON

Washington, D. C., April 15.—With President Harding and his leaders in the lower branch of congress in an open split on what the size of the navy bill should be, the House met today with a showdown as to whether the sea forces should be kept at 87,000 or 67,000 men. The former is the figure urged by President Harding. Indications are that the bigger navy advocates will win at today. The claimed 200 votes needed. Little navy members also professed confidence. All Chairman Kelly in charge of the 67,000 bill would say was "we are still confident it will go through as reported."

THREE BOYS, ASLEEP
ON RAILROAD TRACK,
ARE KILLED BY TRAIN

Fort Worth, Texas, April 15.—Three Columbus Ohio, boys were killed as they lay asleep on the Texas & Pacific Railroad track while waiting for a train to arrive early today. The boys were: El Vance Riggs, aged 20, Elmer Thibault, 17, and John Shumate, 18. Edward Miner, aged 25, of Port Henry, New York, a member of the party, told the police of the tragedy. He said the boys arrived at Fort Worth from Longview, Texas, about 9:00 o'clock last night. Three of them laid down on the track to sleep while he sought a more comfortable place. Riggs was appointed to stand awake and keep watch.

HYDE CITY WOMAN DIES

Brady's Daily Poem EASTER BONNETS

By Berton Brady
So now we come to Easter,
When Lenten days have fled,
And everyone's a feaster
At Spring's delightful spread;
When we greet one another
In joyous, friendly chat
And—take a look at mother
In her
New,
Spring
hat!
Oh there's a fluff of laces,
A sheen of smoothest silk
And lots of lovely faces
And skins as white as milk;
Bright eyes are all aglitter,
We love to gaze thereat,
And—take a look at sister
In her
New,
Spring
hat!
In dresses rather scanty
Here comes a natty pair—
They're grandmamma and auntie,
Dressed up to take
Then, bright and smart as may be,
There's Jimmy, wearing spats,
And little Sue and Baby
In their
New Spring
hat!
But—what's this dowdy creature
That's shambling in the rear,
This person glum of feature
Who seems ill-suited here?
Let's throw him out!—Oh bother,
We really can't do that,
For that is dear old father
In his last year's
hat!

Government Bulletin Shows Grain In Good Shape For Big Crops

The following report issued by G. L. Morgan, Agricultural Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, shows the condition of winter grains, number of breeding sows and the supply of farm labor in Pennsylvania on April 1st.

WINTER WHEAT
The crop has wintered well in nearly all sections. There has been very little freezing and thawing this spring and the per cent of winter kill will be extremely light. The condition of the crop on April 1 was 92 per cent of a normal, as compared with 97 per cent last year and 89 per cent, the average condition for the past ten years on April 1.

RYE
Rye, as in the case of wheat, came through the winter in fair condition. There has been very little winter killing. The condition of the crop on April 1 was 91 per cent of a normal, as compared with 97 per cent last year and 90 per cent, the average condition for the past ten years on April 1.

BREEDING SOWS
The number of breeding sows is estimated at 102 per cent of last year or 133,000, as compared with 145,000 in 1920 and 143,000, the average number for the past three years on April 1.

FARM LABOR
The present supply of farm labor is estimated at 110 per cent of last year and 107 per cent of the normal supply.

Free love usually comes high in the end.

A SAD TALE

It's a sad tale, Matey—a tale that brings tears to the eyes of thousands unaccustomed to weep. The first day of fishing season, 1922, was about as unpleasant as any the weatherman could have handed out.

Following the spring like weather of the fore part of the week, the aforesaid and much tussled weatherman put the rain makers on the job last evening about 5:30 and then opened the gates from the Polar Regions. This morning the streams were all bank full and the fishermen who braved the weather without any "bat" were compelled to use gloves for their own hands and provide overcoats for the "bat" used on the hook.

Reports coming from the various camps occupied by fishermen indicate that the catch for the opening day will be more or less meagre but the weatherman promises that he will be decent starting tomorrow so that midday may wear her new lid. But who cares about a new lid when the "first day" of fishin' season had to be foregone?

READJUSTMENT OF CROSS NATION RATE ON FREIGHT URGED

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Readjustment of transcontinental freight rates was proposed to the Interstate Commerce Commission today in the report of William A. Disque, Attorney-Examiner for the Commission. Disque proposed that the commission deny trans-continental lines and establishments from so called "defended territories, generally east of the Rocky Mountains, on lower rates on various commodities to Pacific Coast terminals than intermediate points. He also recommended denial of authority to establish lower rates on hemp from New Orleans and Galveston to Pacific Coast terminals than from and to intermediate points.

TODAY'S STOCKS

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 15.—Today's short session of the New York Stock exchange was a real oil market nearly every one of these stocks going into new high territory. Their strength was reflected in the rest of the list. There was no special deals to account for the strength in oils, except in so far as lack of news in the coal strike might be taken as a good indication.

CLOSED SUCCESSFUL TERM

The Chestnut Ridge School in Pike Twp. ended April 11th, with Mr. William Bloom as teacher. We wish to thank Mr. Bloom for the efforts he put forth in trying to make the school a success.

A hearty co-operation grew up between the teacher and pupils which lasted throughout the term, not only in their studies but also in their play which was enjoyed by all. He took a keen interest in the preservation of all school property and against wastefulness of school supplies which should be appreciated by the taxpayers. No time was lost during the term Mr. Bloom being at the school every day although having a distance of about 4 miles to walk over mountain footpath. He was always at the school early and had the building

Genoa Conference Affects An Agreement On Russian Debts

Genoa, Italy, April 15.—The Allied and Russian delegates to the Genoa Economic Conference this afternoon has reached a complete agreement on the liquidation of Russia's old debt. The Soviet delegates agreed to recognize as valid all of Russia's debts contracted previous to the war. This is a victory for Premier Lloyd George, who hopes to make a successful conclusion of the debt transactions and finally an agreement whereby European nations will pledge themselves to refrain from attacking each other for a term of years.

BELIEVE WILSON IS GOING TO KEEP OUT OF CONGRESS FIGHT

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Woodrow Wilson will take virtually no part in the Congressional campaign this fall. This was the belief in political circles here as a result of the breach between the former President and his former secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, growing out of the dispute as to whether Tumulty was authorized to convey a message from Wilson to the recent Jeffersonian banquet in New York.

From friends considered close to the former President it was learned that Wilson's action in repudiating the message Tumulty gave the banquet was not taken with any design to check a boom for James M. Cox in 1924, or to aid William J. McAdoo, but to make it clear that he is not abandoning his determination to keep out of politics. Wilson may get back into politics before the next presidential election, some of his friends believe. Others believe he will never get back into the political ring, but all agree that he does not consider the present time ripe for a re-entry and that he does not intend to get into the Congressional campaign.

Fisher Manager Out For Pinchot

Statement by Vernon F. Taylor, Indiana, Pa.
The withdrawal of John S. Fisher as a candidate for Governor was a most unselfish and patriotic act.

He saw that with the forces of good Government divided as they were, with Mr. Fisher and Gifford Pinchot both in the field, the choice of the contractors combined had a tremendous advantage.

When it became evident that Mr. Pinchot would not retire, Mr. Fisher took the proper and public spirited course by paving the way for a combination of all the elements intent upon the overthrow of the sinister and unholy alliance of the political machines of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, aided by the power of the State payroll, exerted in a desperate game to promote personal ends.

As chairman of the Committee of Western Pennsylvania that sponsored the candidacy of Mr. Fisher, I earnestly urge all good citizens to go to the polls of May 16th and help nominate Gifford Pinchot for Governor.

CONDUCTOR POLACCO TO SUCCEED MARY GARDEN

Chicago, Ill., April 15.—Giborio Polacco, conductor of the Chicago Opera Company, will be named director succeeding Mary Garden, whose intention to resign was made public in New York recently.

On Tuesday evening, a number of the Kerr Addition Methodists gathered at the Parsonage at Hyde and gave their pastor and wife a welcome reception.

A dainty luncheon was served.

TO OWNERS OF HORSES, COWS AND CHICKENS

You are asked to put your barns and pens in good condition, so that they are not a nuisance to your neighbors, and have your manure hauled away. The fly breeding time is here. If manure is hauled to the garden lots and fields and scattered, this will destroy the fly when it is in the embryo stage. The best time to kill flies is before they begin to fly or when they are in the maggot stage. When manure is scattered this kills the maggots. Swat the fly and help us fight this nuisance.

CURWENSVILLE

Tomorrow marks the culmination of a season of fasting and prayer. Some of our churches have observed these forty days as a season of self-denial, others have observed only the week preceding Easter, called Passion week or Holy Week. Whatever the creed, pastors have all stressed the necessity for a broader and deeper Christianity and a closer relation to the Father, Who in His All-wisdom made possible the glad Easter season. In commemoration of the Resurrection of our Savior, the most sublime event in the history of Christianity, all of our churches will observe Easter Sunday by special exercises. Let at least one service find you in some church a grateful worshipper or a penitent sinner, with heart and mind made receptive by the thought of the anguish and shame endured by Him who made possible your salvation and resurrection.

The Presbyterian church will have an Easter sermon by the pastor Rev. B. H. Conley with special music by the choir at both morning and evening services. Miss Sykes, who has delighted all who have heard her, will sing.

At the Methodist church, Dr. Collins will preach an Easter sermon in the morning and the choir has prepared some especially attractive music. The evening program will consist of exercises by the Junior and Primary Departments. Dr. Collins will present a number of pictures during the evening service which will be an enjoyable feature.

At the Grace Lutheran church Rev. Edwin Dingman, pastor, will administer the Sacrament of Holy Communion at 11 o'clock. There will be an Easter sermon by the pastor and special Easter music by the choir.

Rev. Cameron, pastor of the Baptist church will preach an Easter sermon at the morning service and the choir has prepared special Easter music. At the evening service an attractive program will be rendered by the Sunday School.

St. Timothy Catholic church will offer special services with some good music and an Easter sermon by the pastor, Rev. P. A. Lynch.

No regardless of sect or creed, attend some service on Sunday with gratitude to God for his many blessings and a deeper consideration of your fellowman.

Then in further observance—absolutely non-sectarian—the American Legion Band will give a concert at 8 p. m. in the Strand Theatre. Under the capable leadership of Orazio Circolo, this band is fast becoming a power in our community and deserves the encouragement which a building crowded with enthusiastic listeners can give. No admission will be charged.

Mrs. Charles Larson (nee Miss Mary Kelley) of New York, is spending Easter with her parents Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kelley.

Mrs. Jas. Lord underwent an operation for goitre in Clearfield Hospital yesterday.

The Degree Team of Rhoda Rebekah lodge journeyed to Clearfield Thursday evening and were the guests of the Rebekah lodge there. About fifty members of the local lodge accompanied the degree team.

Miss Anna Robinson and Lena Peters were Clearfield visitors yesterday.

The Boys Band, under the leadership of Orazio Circolo have been organized but two months but are doing fine work and are busy with intensive practice looking toward their first public appearance on Memorial Day.

Claire Rorabaugh and wife of Rochester and Mrs. H. J. Wilbur, of Youngstown, were called here last week by the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. C. A. Roarbaugh.

Ralph Volpe, of Mount Union, will spend Easter with his mother Mrs. Michael Volpe.

Margaret Draucker will leave on Saturday morning for Mill Hall. She will meet Mrs. N. O. Draucker, of Pittsburgh at Lock Haven and together they will spend the Easter season with Mrs. Wm. Harmon and family of Mill Hall.

WOODLAND

The U B Church people are to be congratulated on their fine church basement which they have recently received at the cost of considerable labor and money. The first affair held there was a special meeting of the "Tri Hee" class of the Sunday School on Thursday evening last. Twenty-two members were present and the class was greatly and pleasantly surprised when Ashley Peters' class of young ladies dropped in singing with them a fine lunch. The boys desire to thank the girls for the lunch, which certainly was a fine one.

Mr. and Mrs. Al. Dugan, son Paul and Mrs. J. N. Palmer motored to Coalport on Sunday where they visited Mr. Dugan's brother Jack who is seriously ill.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Seth E. Gordon, Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, made a fine address before the State Conservation Council at State College, March 30th, from which we take the following extracts which should interest all Clearfield county sportsmen. Read it. It is worth while:

The Game Commission has been successful in gradually moulding public sentiment in favor of law observance feeding of wild life, etc., instead of our field officers being regarded as imposters in all parts of the state as they were in the beginning, they are now respected and their work thoroughly appreciated.

Term of Service
Under the present law, members of the board are appointed for a period of three years, which period, in the opinion of most sportsmen, is entirely too short. The appointments of two members expire each year, and since wild life conservation is not a matter of three, five or even ten years, the terms for members of the board should, in my judgment, be materially increased so as to guarantee a continuity of policy. Fortunately for the sportsmen of the Keystone state, Dr. Charles B. Penrose, the president has served continuously since February 1899; Mr. John M. Phillips, vice president, since November, 1905; Mr. W. B. McCaleb since February, 1911; Mr. John S. Speer, since December 1914, with a gap of almost two years in his services because of change of administration. Dr. H. J. Donaldson, since November 1916, and Mr. William S. Ellis, since January 1920. From this you will note that the majority of the members of the board have served continuously over a comparatively long period of years; but increasing the length of the term of appointment would always tend toward stabilization and continuity of policies—something absolutely necessary in any conservation work.

Appropriation to Game Commission
Appropriations made to the Game Commission from general funds of the Commonwealth from 1897 to 1912, inclusive were as follows:

(Postage and expressage only)
1897.....	800.00
1899.....	800.00
1901.....	3,000.00
1908.....	12,000.00
1905.....	20,000.00

1907.....	40,000.00
1909.....	60,200.00
1911.....	55,200.00
1913.....	97,400.00

Securing funds necessary to operate the department successfully always gave interested sportsmen and the Game Commission deep concern because the demands of public schools, hospitals, highways, etc., apparently were always given preference, with the result that the amount appropriated to the Game Commission from general funds was entirely inadequate. Finally the sportsmen of the state decided to support a Residence Hunters' License Law and were successful in having the present license law passed by the 1913 session of the Legislature. The funds paid in through this Act were accumulated in the State Treasury until June, 1915. Since that time the entire cost of the work of the Game Commission, including the payment of bounties by the Game Commission, since April 15th, 1915, amounting to almost $800,000.00, (including reimbursement of counties for bounties paid from July 25, 1913 to April 15, 1915, amounting to $287,465.00,) the purchase of lands for game refuge purposes in sections far remote from State forest lands amounting to approximately $125,000.00 and all other activities of the department has been paid out of funds collected through the Hunters' License Act and penalties and fees of various kinds. The disbursements for general purposes, bounties, etc., have run anywhere from $225,000.00 to $865,000.00 per year, and the department of the present time requires an average of about a half million dollars per year to conduct its many activities. The budget of the Game Commission for the 1922 fiscal year amounts to about $530,000.00.

Your local druggist sells an ointment called San Cura that surely does do anything it is advertised to do or money back.

Thos. F. McCauley, Cooperstown, Pa., cut his finger; blood poison set in; arm swelled terribly; friends despaired; said arm must come off. San Cura Ointment drew out water and dark pus; agony ceased; arm and hand soon as good as ever.

It quickly draws out poison from sores, fever sores, ulcers, boils, carbuncles, cuts, burns, scalds and bruises.

For itching, bleeding or protruding piles, it has received the highest endorsements, while innumerable cures are recorded where eczema, tetter and salt rheum were cured in the shortest possible time. San Cura Ointment is 35c, 65c and $1.25 at all Drug Stores.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR KIDDEE?

Is he or she as strong and husky as you would like to see them? There's a way out and that way is to give them plenty of milk with their meals and in between.

CLEARFIELD MILK

This is the milk that the local school authorities are using for the kiddies that are under weight. There's a reason for this selection. It is not only the milk but it's the fact that every care is used to get the milk to the kiddies as pure a milk as can possibly be.

The Eternal Symbol

Easter, anniversary of the Resurrection and real birthday of Christian civilization, again is celebrated—as it has been for nearly 1900 years.

Primarily it is a religious festival, Christianity's rallying day on which the wise wandering-sheep return to the fold to hear inspiring sermons that give many a new lease on life.

The spirit of Easter is the spirit of the Resurrection—of spring—the awakening of life, hope and happiness after the long death of winter. In this sense, the Easter season is observed even in heathen countries. The budding lily and the Easter egg are symbolic of the eternal re-birth of life.

Let us strive, this Easter, to resurrect the best that is in us and face the future with re-born hope, tolerance and Christian kindness to our fellows, striving to extend the glad spirit of Easter until it permeates all days of the year.

Some persons talk about "syncopated music" as though it were something altogether new. Syncopation in music is merely the shifting of the accent of the measure to an unaccented beat. The works of all the great classic masters abound in examples of syncopation. However, the tendency of exaggerated syncopation is an evidence, not of evolution of music but of dissolution, or at least degeneration. Syncopation is the prevailing characteristic of the music of barbarous and semi-civilized peoples. It strongly marked the music of the American Indians, and was incorporated into the general system of the Negro music of the South.

There is really nothing at all wrong about syncopation of itself, but along with syncopation there is too apt to be a reaction also to the other characteristics of barbarous music. In our day, this tendency finds expression in the barbaric monstrosity which has been called "jazz." It is an injustice to syncopation in music to refer to jazz, as syncopation alone, but the fact is also it would be hard to imagine jazz without the unrestrained syncopation.

And whatever may be said of certain varieties of dancing to music in which such syncopation appears, it nevertheless remains that legislation, as proposed by the city council of Savannah, Georgia, will never put an end to the use of any sort of music for dancing, any more than it could be expected to put an end to cubism in another art or the absence of good style in writing. It is not legislation that directs the tendencies of peoples, whether in popular amusement or otherwise.

It should not be forgotten, too, that many tendencies appear first on the stage and are afterward copied by the public; which shows how illogical it would be for a city to say that certain music should not be danced to in a hotel or public dancing place, but that it may be used in a theatrical performance. The place to attack dancing of the sort that is considered injurious to public morals is, of course, in the home. So long as fathers and mothers permit jazz dancing in their own homes, how can they be expected to support public sentiment against jazz?

"Gambling," says Sir Walter Scott, in the introduction to "St. Roman's Well," is "a vice which the devil has contrived to render all his own, since it is deprived of whatever pleads an apology for other vices, and is founded entirely on the cold-blooded calculation of the most exclusive selfishness."

The prevalence of the vice calls for some straight thinking concerning its iniquity. Too many persons, including both the "society women who play bridge and the street urchins who roll dice in back alleys, do not consider gambling inherently wrong. Their attitude is that it is only to be condemned if one's losses are so great as to be embarrassing or cause those dependent upon the gambler to suffer. One often hears them say that they look upon their losses as no more than a reasonable outlay for the entertainment that they got from the game. Then, too, they are in the habit of saying loosely that all life is a gamble, that everyone is constantly taking hazards.

They ignore the fundamental fact that gambling at dice and cards is immoral because it is an attempt to win money by making somebody else lose it. There is no way for the gambler to profit except by causing his opponent to suffer.

This is the crux of the matter and must be emphasized if people are to be made to believe that gambling is an evil in itself, independently of whether one can afford to lose. Can one afford to win, or try to win, at the expense of another, should rather be asked.

FRANKLIN REDUCES PRICES TO LOWEST LEVEL IN SIX YEARS

Syracuse, April 14.—Prices of Franklin cars were announced today which are the lowest in the history of the Franklin Company's sixteen years manufacture of six cylinder cars, with the single exception of a four month period in 1916.

In the statement issued by H. H. Franklin, reduction as much as $1500 under war prices are indicated. Touring car at $1950 and Sedan car at $2850 are typical of the new schedule of prices applying to the entire Franklin line.

We determined to get under the price level of July 1914, the month the World War started, and also under the level of March 1917, the month before the United States entered the war," Mr. Franklin said today. "So today our basis is pre-war from any angle you take it. This move puts us in position to attain large volume in the quality car field."

"While coincident with this price reduction, we are reducing overhead wage rates will not be disturbed at present. As far as inventories are concerned, the Franklin Company shows a favorable condition due to selling well ahead of the industry as a whole during 1921."

A FINE CONCERT

The sacred concert given by the Sunday School orchestra of the West Side M. E. Church, in the church last evening was largely attended despite the storm. The program as published in this paper several days ago was carried thru with the exception of a few numbers that had to be omitted for unavoidable reasons.

Everyone in the audience was loud in their praises for the quality of music rendered both by vocalists and instrumentalists.

MRS. F. H. THURSTON

Mrs. F. H. Thurston, aged mother of George Thurston, well known business man of this city, died late yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grant Odgen, of Hillsdale.

The funeral will be held from there on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial later.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

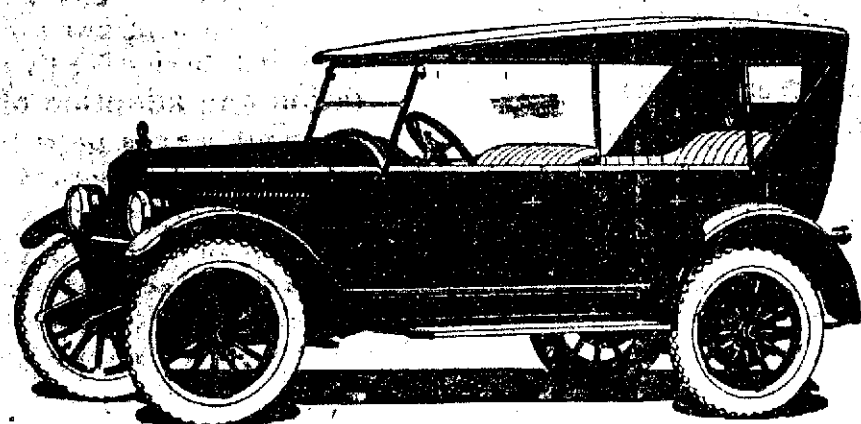

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

Take home a regular Saturday night bag to the folks and they'll have something to eat over Sunday—it'll be a change from so many eggs.

We Want You To Know The Facts

A Statement By The Association of Bituminous Coal Operators of Central Pennsylvania

The strike of 45,000 union miners in District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., affects the large majority of industrial workers in Cambria, Clearfield, Jefferson, Indiana, Armstrong, Bedford, Huntingdon, Centre, Elk and Tioga counties. Indirectly it will be felt by every business and every family resident in these counties. The operators employing union labor in this district have no part in the direct causes of the strike now in progress in the Central Pennsylvania field. We asked the representatives of the miners' organization in District No. 2 to meet us in joint conference to formulate a wage scale to succeed that which expired March 31, 1922. They refused. In violation of their agreement to remain at work 30 days after the initial conference between miners and operators for the formulation and adoption of a wage scale agreement to succeed that of April 26, 1920, they went on strike April 1, 1922.

No demands of any kind have been made upon us. We have been given no opportunity to present our case. The miners of this district are on strike because one or two groups of operators of the Central Competitive Field refused to participate in a general conference. The miners and operators of the Central Pennsylvania Field were never participants in the Central Competitive Field joint conferences and have no relation whatever to it. The miners' organization of District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., has met us in joint conference for 23 years. Why the refusal to meet now?

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis is authority for the statement that the outlying districts, of which the Central Pennsylvania field is one, have a combined output much larger than that of the Central Competitive states. Any action, therefore, by the operators and miners of the Central Competitive Field would be minority action and the foundation of our great country is laid upon majority rule. Should not the criticisms or approval of either side be determined by the majority rather than the minority?

The United Mine Workers of District No. 2 and their officials are the same organization and officials who criticize the Pittsburgh and Southern Ohio operators for refusing to enter into joint conference and violating an alleged agreement when this same organization and its officials are guilty of the same conduct in Central Pennsylvania.

The signatories to the wage scale agreement effected in District No. 2, April 26, 1920, for the U. M. W. of A., were John Brophy, President; James Marks, Vice-President; Richard Gilbert, Secretary; U. Ed. Swartzentruber, Alex McMullen, Jos. Panciera, William L. Kane, Herman E. Carletti, Sam Nunemaker, William Donaldson, John Ghizzoni, Peter Ferrara, H. M. James. Below their signatures appears this clause:

"The fulfillment of this agreement is guaranteed by the International Union of the United Mine Workers of America and by the United Mine Workers of District No. 2, as well as by the officers of the International Organization and of the District."

The signatories of this clause are: John Brophy, President; James Marks, Vice-President; Richard Gilbert, Secretary, for District No. 2; John L. Lewis, President; Phillip Murray, Vice-President; William Green, Secretary, for the International Union.

Neither the International Union nor the District organization of U. M. W. of A., has seemingly concerned itself towards guaranteeing the fulfillment of the agreement, for in violation of Rule 25 of the agreement of April 26, 1922, the union miners of this district are now on strike. The district miners' officials have refused to meet us in joint conference and the International Union has forbidden a district conference, despite the fact that the Central Pennsylvania field has no connection with the Central Competitive field, whose operators are being so roundly taken to task for failure to meet the miners in conference.

In view of our inability to prevail upon the miners' organization of District No. 2 to meet us in joint conference for the formulation and adoption of a new wage agreement, and because of reduced wages paid by operators employing non-union labor, whose product we must meet in the open market, we have found it necessary to formulate an offer, or scale of wages, effective April 1, 1922, so that we may procure our fair share of orders in the open market and so that the miners employed by us may enjoy their fair share of work days. That offer, posted at the mines of the members of this association, follows:

THE RESURRECTION

1 And when the sabbath was past, they went from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they anything to any man; for they were afraid.

2 And very early in the morning they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

3 And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away from the door of the sepulchre.

5 And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a white garment; and they were affrighted.

6 And he said unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is not here: behold the place where he lay.

7 But go your way, tell the disciples and Peter that he is risen from the dead: go ye into Galilee; there shall you see him, as he said unto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and told every creature.—St. Mark, 16.

9 And she went and told them that who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

10 And they, when they had heard that the stone was rolled away, they believed not.

11 After that he appeared in another form unto two of them, as they right side, clothed in a white garment; and went into the country.

12 And they, when they had heard that the stone was rolled away, they believed not.

13 After that he appeared in another form unto two of them, as they right side, clothed in a white garment; and went into the country.

14 Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and up not here: behold the place where he lay.

15 And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.—St. Mark, 16.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Effect of Belief in the Resurrection.

I. Jesus Manifests Himself to the Disciples, Thomas Being Absent (vv. 19-20).

He appeared to several of His disciples at several different times during that day. This is the first appearance to the disciples as a body. The rumors of His several appearances on that day caused the disciples to assemble to talk over the matter. For fear of the Jews, they met in a private room and barred the door. While they were discussing the strange happenings of the day, the Lord mysteriously appeared before them with the greeting of good cheer, "Peace be unto you." He did not come with a sword, but with a message of peace.

At His birth the angels announced, "Peace." Just before He took His departure, He said: "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give unto you" (John 14:27). "Let not your heart be troubled" (John 14:1), and now the first word after His resurrection is "Peace." Having culminated their fears, He gave them an unmistakable evidence of His resurrection. "And when He had so said, He showed unto them His hands and His side. Then were the disciples who when they saw the Lord" (John 20:20). Their doubts needed to be scattered, and His peace needed to be upon them. Consider:

1. The disciples' commission (v. 21).
"As my Father hath sent Me, even so send I you." This commission was not simply to a class, as the eleven, but to all Christians. In Luke 21:38 we find that there were others there in that meeting besides the eleven when Jesus showed Himself to them and commissioned them, showing that the commission is not confined to a class or order, but is while as the Christian body itself. All Christians, therefore, are envoys and representatives of Christ. The exercise of this great function is not merely optional with the individual, but is obligatory upon him. The Lord placed it upon a plane with His own commission to the Father—"As my Father hath sent me so send I you."

2. The disciples' equipment (v. 22).
"He breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive ye the Holy Ghost." The mission of the disciple is a very great one, but every one who goes forth in its execution has the clothes of the power of a new life in the possession of His spirit. No one who has this equipment shall ever fail. The Lord's representatives have His life in them. The happiness of our efforts is due to our failure to take His faith our equipment.

3. The disciples' authority (v. 23).
"Whosoever shall bind on earth, shall be bound on heaven; and whosoever shall loose on earth, shall be loosed on heaven." This authority was not by virtue of office, but by virtue of having the Holy Ghost. This would give the spiritual discernment to know who had or who had not repented, and consequently, to pronounce, pardon or refuse.

II. Jesus Manifests Himself to the Disciples, Thomas Being Present (vv. 24-29).

Thomas was absent at the first appearance of Jesus. His absence deprived him of a vision of the Lord. Absence from the assembly of believers always occasions loss. The other disciples go to Thomas at once with the glad news of the resurrection, but he will not believe. His stubborn disbelief is such that he doggedly declares that unless he sees the prints of the nails, etc., he will not believe. It is right to demand evidence, but to prescribe terms is rank unbelief. Note:

1. The Lord's kindness to those who have difficulties. Thomas deserved rebuke, but the Lord kindly supplied the evidence which he demanded.

2. The revelation of the Lord transforming a doubter into a possessor.

III. The Conclusion of the Gospel (vv. 30-31).

In these verses John's arguments are summarized, and an explanation is given as to why he wrote this Gospel. Many other things could have been written, but these that he wrote he judged adequate to prove his point: To prove that (1) Jesus of Nazareth was the expected Messiah; (2) that He was divine—the very Son of God; (3) that those who believe on Him as God's only Son—the Messiah—would receive eternal life. Eternal life is in Him and only as He is appropriated by faith can men be saved.

What Christ Saw in the World.
Christ saw much in this world to weep over, and much to pray over; but He saw nothing in it to look upon with contempt.

CHAPTER XX

P. S. L. Comes Home

By nine o'clock the next morning, as soon as I'd swallowed a hurried bite of breakfast in the grill-room I wiped a camp-stool and a magazine out of the lounge and trotted upstairs to plant myself before the boss's door, determined that nobody should disturb him until he was good and ready to get up.

He turned out a little before twelve, looking sort of haggard and drawn, of course, and having some pretty bad burns on the side of his neck and on the backs of both hands. But he was all there, as usual, and he held a good, brotherly hand on my shoulder when he saw what I was doing.

"They don't make many of them like you, Jimmie," he said. And then: "Have you any news?"

I had, a little, and I gave it to him. Fred May had come tip-toeing up into my sentry corridor about ten o'clock to tell me that Mr. Perkins had arranged with the strikers to have a special go east with the major and Mrs. Shella and Collingwood's body to catch the Overland at Sedgwick; and I told the boss this, and that the train had been gone for an hour or more.

Also, I gave him a sealed package that a strange boy had brought up just a little while after May went away. We took the elevator to the grill-room for something to eat, and at table Mr. Norcross opened the package. It contained a bunch of affidavits, eleven of them in all, and there was no letter or anything to tell where they had come from.

He handed the papers over to me after he had seen what they were—sort of frowned across the table at me and said: "Do you know what it means—this surrender of those little affidavits, Jimmie?"

I said I guessed I did; that Hatch being dead, and Collingwood, too, there wasn't nerve enough left in the Red Tower outfit to keep up the fight; that the surrender of the affidavits was a kind of a plea for "let-up on our part."

"We'll begin to show them, in just about fifteen minutes," Jimmie was the short comment. "Reach over and get that telephone and tell Mr. Ripley and Mr. Billoughby that I want them to meet me at my office at half past twelve. Any news from the stalker?"

"Nothing," I told him, while "Central" was getting me Mr. Ripley's number. "Fred May said it was going on just the same, everything quiet and nothing doing, except that the wrecking train had gone out to pick up the scraps at Timber Mountain 'Y.' Klugg is bawling it, and the strikers manned it for him."

Nothing more was said until after I had sent the two phone messages, and then the boss broke out in a new spot. "Has anything been heard from Mr. Van Blitt?" he asked.

"Not that I know of."

Again he gave me that queer little scowl across the table.

"Jimmie, have you found out yet why Mr. Van Blitt insisted on quitting the service?"

I guess I guessed a little, though I told not to.

"Mr. Van Blitt is one of the best friends you've got," I said. "He thought you needed this strike, and he wanted to go out among the pay-roll men and sort of help it along. He couldn't do a thing like that while he was an officer of the company and drawing his pay like the rest of us."

"I might have known—he as good as told me," was the reply, made kind of half absently, and then, short and quick: "How's the stock market? Have you seen a paper?"

I had seen both papers, at breakfast-time, but of course they had nothing startling in them except a half-minute account of the wreck at Timber Mountain 'Y,' grabbed off just before they went to press. They couldn't have anything later from New York than the day before. But Fred May had tipped me off when he came up to tell me about the Major Ken-

JORDAN'S

NASH INCREASES 50 PER CENT OVER THE LAST YEAR SALES

Increase in sales of Nash cars for the first quarter of the year of more than fifty percent are shown over the same period in 1921. The company's four and six cylinder car factories are oversold. There are on hand for April delivery orders for 5,025 cars, including sixes and fours, as against 3,307 orders for the same month last year.

These facts were brought out in an interview with C. V. Nash on his return from an extended trip through the North-west, West and South-west. "The first quarter of 1922 shows an increase in our sales, in numbers of cars, of more than fifty per cent over the same period for last year," Mr. Nash said. "With reference to our four-cylinder car, we have almost twice as many orders for April as we will be able to produce in the plant. The factory ran in March to its full capacity yet we carried over into March something like 400 or 500 unfilled orders.

"Every indication points to the fact that the four-cylinder car factory will carry over into May over 1000 unfilled orders."

There also are many unfilled orders for April at the Nash Motors six-cylinder car plant where every effort is being made to meet the heavy demand.

A bill of health is a certificate issued to the master of a vessel when clearing from a port. When no disease of an infectious nature exists in the port, the bill is known as a clean bill of health, if infectious disease is suspected or there is possibility of such, it is called a suspected bill, while in case of such disease existing, it is known as a foul bill. The expression "clean bill of health" is often applied to individuals, who, after a physical examination, are found in perfect health.

Round Chimneys Best.

A round chimney, while not so easy to build as a square one, has decided advantages over the latter, says the Scientific American. It greatly lessens the friction between the walls of the chimney and the rising gases, and has the smallest wall surfaces in proportion to the cross area. The efficiency of a round chimney 24 inches in diameter is almost as great as that of a square chimney 24 inches across.

6000 Rush To Hills In Flooded District

EXPECT MOMENTARILY TO SEE HOMES
SINK INTO QUICKSANDS OF VALLEY

Beardstown, Illinois, April 15.—Six thousand persons huddled on the heights near Beardstown today, anxiously waiting to see whether their homes will be swallowed up by the quicksands on which they are built. The homeless in this town are resigned to the possibility today that any moment might see a rush of turbid waters stretch like a quilt over the area where their homes stand. The west and south ends of Beardstown are built on quicksands. Three homes had begun to sink and pavements were being broken up today. The refugees have taken shelter with friends or in tents pitched on high localities.

Chicago, Illinois, April 15.—Following five weeks of nearly daily rain, rivers in the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri basins were overflowing today, causing millions of dollars of property damage and intense suffering. Hundreds have been driven from their homes. The heaviest loss will be suffered by farmers through the drowning of livestock and through inability to prepare fields for crops. The damage was most severe along the Illinois River, where levees have given way, flooding thousands of acres of land. Beardstown, Illinois, whose six thousand population is accustomed to floods, has experienced the greatest high water loss in its history.

Peoria, Ill., April 15.—Flood waters sweeping down the Illinois River have caused property damage estimated at five million dollars. Weakened levees protecting valuable lands along the river beds in Illinois were giving way before the rush of water. Families fled to higher ground during the night after a warning that a levee protecting the district might give way any minute releasing a 20 foot wall of water.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—President Harding will go to Cleveland sometime in September to take the Supreme Masonic Degree from the Lodge there. The date for the trip has not been set nor has it been determined how long the President will remain there.

SIZE OF NAVY BIG
ISSUE IN HOUSE
THIS AFTERNOON

Washington, D. C., April 15.—With President Harding and his leaders in the lower branch of congress in an open split on what the size of the navy bill should be, the House met today with a showdown as to whether the sea forces should be kept at 87,000 or 67,000 men. The former is the figure urged by President Harding. Indications are that the bigger navy advocates will win at today. The claimed 200 votes needed. Little navy members also professed confidence. All Chairman Kelly in charge of the 67,000 bill would say was "we are still confident it will go through as reported."

THREE BOYS, ASLEEP
ON RAILROAD TRACK,
ARE KILLED BY TRAIN

Fort Worth, Texas, April 15.—Three Columbus Ohio, boys were killed as they lay asleep on the Texas & Pacific Railroad track while waiting for a train to arrive early today. The boys were: El Vance Riggs, aged 20, Elmer Thibault, 17, and John Shumate, 18.

Edward Miner, aged 25, of Port Henry, New York, a member of the party told the police office tragedy. He said the boys arrived. Fort Worth from Longview, Texas, about 9:00 o'clock last night. Three of them laid down on the track to sleep while he sought a more comfortable place. Riggs was appointed to stand awake and keep watch.

HYDE CITY OMAN DIES

Mrs. H. J. Mulstied this morning at her home in Hyde, aged 30. Funeral will be held from the Catholic Church Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Richard L. Kett is visiting friends in Franklin Oil City.

MOTHER KILLS SON AND POISONS SELF
TO AID HUSBAND

Newark, N. J., April 15.—Medical Science today battled with the will of Mrs. Maude Fancher to die that she might better guide her husband from the spirit world. Mrs. Fancher, who killed her two year old son Cecil by poisoning him attempted to take her own life by drinking Lysol. She lies at the point of death at the city hospital here. Letters to her husband explain the motive for her act. She wrote that she had thought she was a drag upon her husband and decided that she would end her life that she might guide and help him to success from the spirit world. She said she was taking her baby with her because there could be no one to smother it.

UNION OFFICIALS
CLAIM BIG GAINS
IN NON-UNION FIELDS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—Great gains in the nation wide coal strike were reported to United Mine Workers headquarters from non-union fields of West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Scores of mines in these districts which failed to close at the beginning of the strike have since suspended operation. Union officials claimed a squad of union agents combing the coke and bituminous regions of Pennsylvania, have initiated nearly 40,000 men, it was reported. A like harvest was reaped in the open shop fields of West Virginia. Lawrence Dwyer, executive board member from West Virginia, reported to Secretary Treasurer William E. Greene here today that the strike was gaining momentum in West Virginia despite the injunction restraining union members.

Altoona, Pa., April 15.—Twenty-eight striking miners and their families have been ordered to vacate company houses at Revloc before midnight tonight, according to John Brophy, president of District No. 2. President Brophy said he was undecided as to what action he would take. John Kavanaugh was assaulted by company police and charges against the latter have been filed, Brophy said. The Revloc district has always been non-union.

PURCHASED VALUABLE
TIMBER TRACT

Ed. L. Shirey and son, Clearfield's leading lumbermen, have just closed the deal for a very valuable tract of timber land in Clinton County near Renova. The timber was purchased from a couple of Renova businessmen.

The tract is estimated to cut 2,500,000 feet of the finest kind of saw timber and 50,000 railroad ties. Shirey & Son will locate a mill on the tract at once but have eight years in which to take the timber off.

Braley's Daily Poem

EASTER BONNETS

By Berton Braley

So now we come to Easter,
When Lenten days have fled,
And everyone's a feaster
At Spring's delightful spread;
When we greet one another
In joyous, friendly chat
And—take a look at mother
In her New Spring hat!

Oh there's a fluff of laces,
A sheen of smoothest silk
And lots of lovely faces
And skins as white as milk;
Bright eyes are all aglitter,
We love to gaze thereat,
And—take a look at sister
In her New Spring hat!

In dresses rather scanty
Here comes a natty pair—
They're grandmamma and auntie,
Dolled up to take the air.
Then, bright and smart as may be,
There's Jimmy, wearing spats,
And little Sue and Baby
In their New Spring hats!

But—what's this dowdy creature
That's shambling in the rear,
That person glum of feature
Who seems ill-suited here?
Let's throw him out!—Oh bother,
We really can't do that,
For that is dear old father
In his last year's hat!

Government Bulletin
Shows Grain In Good Shape For Big Crops

The following report issued by G. L. Morgan, Agricultural Statistician, U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, shows the condition of winter grains, number of breeding sows and the supply of farm labor in Pennsylvania on April 1st.

WINTER WHEAT
The crop has wintered well in nearly all sections. There has been very little freezing and thawing this spring and the per cent of winter kill will be extremely light. The condition of the crop on April 1 was 92 per cent of a normal, as compared with 97 per cent last year and 89 per cent, the average condition for the past ten years on April 1.

RYE
Rye, as in the case of wheat, came through the winter in fair condition. There has been very little winter killing. The condition of the crop on April 1 was 91 per cent of a normal, as compared with 97 per cent last year and 90 per cent, the average condition for the past ten years on April 1.

BREEDING SOWS
The number of breeding sows is estimated at 102 per cent of last year or 133,000, as compared with 145,000 in 1920 and 143,000, the average number for the past three years on April 1.

FARM LABOR
The present supply of farm labor is estimated at 110 per cent of last year and 107 per cent of the normal supply.

A SAD TALE

It's a sad tale, Matey—a tale that brings tears to the eyes of thousands unaccustomed to weep. The first day of fishing season, 1922, was about as unpleasant as any the weatherman could have handed out.

Following the spring like weather of the fore part of the week, the aforesaid and much tussled weatherman put the rain makers on the job last evening about 5:30 and then opened the gates from the Polar Regions. This morning the streams were all bank full and the fishermen who braved the weather without any "bait" were compelled to use gloves for their own hands and provide overcoats for the "bait" used on the hook.

Reports coming from the various camps occupied by fishermen indicate that the catch for the opening day will be more or less meagre but the weatherman promises that he will be decent starting tomorrow so that midday may wear her new lid. But who cares about a new lid when the "first day" of fishin' season had to be foregone?

READJUSTMENT OF
CROSS NATION RATE
ON FREIGHT URGED

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Readjustment of transcontinental freight rates was proposed to the Interstate Commerce Commission today in the report of William A. Disque, Attorney-Examiner for the Commission. Disque proposed that the commission deny trans-continental lines and establishments from so called "defended territories, generally east of the Rocky Mountains, on lower rates on various commodities to Pacific Coast terminals than intermediate points. He also recommended denial of authority to establish lower rates on hemp from New Orleans and Galveston to Pacific Coast terminals than from and to intermediate points.

TODAY'S STOCKS

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 15.—Today's short session of the New York Stock exchange was a real oil market nearly every one of these stocks going into new high territory. Their strength was reflected in the rest of the list. There was no special deals to account for the strength in oils, except in so far as lack of news in the coal strike might be taken as a good indication.

CLOSED SUCCESSFUL TERM

The Chestnut Ridge School in Pike Twp. ended April 11th, with Mr. William Bloom as teacher. We wish to thank Mr. Bloom for the efforts he put forth in trying to make the school a success.

A hearty co-operation grew up between the teacher and pupils which lasted throughout the term, not only in their studies but also in their play which was enjoyed by all. He took a keen interest in the preservation of all school property and against wastefulness of school supplies which should be appreciated by the taxpayers. No time was lost during the term Mr. Bloom being at the school every day although having a distance of about 4 miles to walk over mountain footpath. He was always at the school early and had the building

Genoa Conference Affects An Agreement On Russian Debts

Genoa, Italy, April 15.—The Allied and Russian delegates to the Genoa Economic Conference this afternoon has reached a complete agreement on the liquidation of Russia's old debt. The Soviet delegates agreed to recognize as valid all of Russia's debts contracted previous to the war. This is a victory for Premier Lloyd George, who hopes to make a successful conclusion of the debt transactions and finally an agreement whereby European nations will pledge themselves to refrain from attacking each other for a term of years.

TO OWNERS OF HORSES, COWS AND CHICKENS

You are asked to put your barns and pens in good condition, so that they are not a nuisance to your neighbors, and have your manure hauled away. The fly breeding time is here. If manure is hauled to the garden lots and fields and scattered, this will destroy the fly when it is in the embryo stage. The best time to kill flies is before they begin to fly or when they are in the maggot stage. When manure is scattered this kills the maggots. Swat the fly and help us fight this nuisance.

CLEARFIELD BOARD OF HEALTH.

BELIEVE WILSON IS GOING TO KEEP OUT OF CONGRESS FIGHT

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Woodrow Wilson will take virtually no part in the Congressional campaign this fall. This was the belief in political circles here as a result of the breach between the former President and his former secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, growing out of the dispute as to whether Tumulty was authorized to convey a message from Wilson to the recent Jeffersonian banquet in New York.

From friends considered close to the former President it was learned that Wilson's action in repudiating the message Tumulty gave the banquet was not taken with any design to check a boom for James M. Cox in 1924, or to aid William J. McAdoo, but to make it clear that he is not abandoning his determination to keep out of politics. Wilson may get back into politics before the next presidential election, some of his friends believe. Others believe he will never get back into the political ring, but all agree that he does not consider the present time ripe for a re-entry and that he does not intend to get into the Congressional campaign.

Fisher Manager
Out For Pinchot

Statement by Vernon F. Taylor, Indiana, Pa. The withdrawal of John S. Fisher as a candidate for Governor was a most unselfish and patriotic act.

He saw that with the forces of good Government divided as they were, with Mr. Fisher and Gifford Pinchot both in the field, the choice of the contractors combined had a tremendous advantage.

When it became evident that Mr. Pinchot would not retire, Mr. Fisher took the proper and public spirited course by paving the way for a combination of all the elements intent upon the overthrow of the sinister and unholy alliance of the political machines of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, aided by the power of the State payroll, exerted in a desperate game to promote personal ends.

As chairman of the Committee of Western Pennsylvania that sponsored the candidacy of Mr. Fisher, I earnestly urge all good citizens to go to the polls of May 16th and help nominate Gifford Pinchot for Governor.

CONDUCTOR POLACCO TO

Chicago, Ill., April 15.—Giborio Polacco, conductor of the Chicago Opera Company, will be named director succeeding Mary Garden whose intention to resign was made public in New York recently.

On Tuesday evening, a number of the Kerr Addition Methodists gathered at the Parsonage at Hyde and gave their pastor and wife a welcome reception.

A dainty luncheon was served.

: News of : Our Neighbors

CURWENSVILLE

Tomorrow marks the culmination of a season of fasting and prayer. Some of our churches have observed these forty days as a season of self-denial, others have observed only the week preceding Easter, called Passion week or Holy Week. Whatever the creed, pastors have all stressed the necessity for a broader and deeper Christianity and a closer relation to the Father, Who in His All-wisdom made possible the glad Easter season. In commemoration of the Resurrection of our Savior, the most sublime event in the history of Christianity, all of our churches will observe Easter Sunday by special exercises. Let at least one service find you in some church a grateful worshipper or a penitent sinner, with heart and mind made receptive by the throes of the anguish and shame endured by Him who made possible your salvation and resurrection.

The Presbyterian church will have an Easter sermon by the pastor Rev. B. H. Conley with special music by the choir at both morning and evening services. Miss Sykes, who has delighted all who have heard her, will sing.

At the Methodist church, Dr. Collins will preach an Easter sermon in the morning and the choir has prepared some especially attractive music. The evening program will consist of exercises by the Junior and Primary Departments. Dr. Collins will present a number of pictures during the evening service which will be an enjoyable feature.

At the Grace Lutheran church Rev. Edwin Dingman, pastor, will administer the Sacrament of Holy Communion at 11 o'clock. There will be an Easter sermon by the pastor and special Easter music by the choir.

Rev. Cameron, pastor of the Baptist church will preach an Easter sermon at the morning service and the choir has prepared special Easter music. At the evening service an attractive program will be rendered by the Sunday School.

St. Timothy Catholic church will offer special services with some good music and an Easter sermon by the pastor, Rev. P. A. Lynch.

No regardless of sect or creed, attend some service on Sunday with gratitude to God for his many blessings and a deeper consideration of your fellowman.

Then in further observance—absolutely non-sectarian—the American Legion Band will give a concert at 8 p. m. in the Strand Theatre. Under the capable leadership of Orazio Circolo, this band is fast becoming a power in our community and deserves the encouragement which a building crowded with enthusiastic listeners can give. No admission will be charged.

Mrs. Charles Larson (nee Miss Mary Kelley) of New York, is spending Easter with her parents Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kelley.

Mrs. Jas. Lord underwent an operation for goitre in Clearfield Hospital yesterday.

The Degree Team of Rhoda Rebekah lodge journeyed to Clearfield Thursday evening and were the guests of the Rebekah lodge there. About fifty members of the local lodge accompanied the degree team.

Miss Anna Robinson and Lena Peters were Clearfield visitors yesterday.

The Boys Band, under the leadership of Orazio Circolo have been organized but two months but are doing fine work and are busy with intensive practice looking toward their first public appearance on Memorial Day.

Claire Rorabaugh and wife of Rochester and Mrs. H. J. Wilbur, of Youngstown, were called here last week by the serious illness of their mother, Mrs. C. A. Roarbaugh.

Ralph Volpe, of Mount Union, will spend Easter with his mother Mrs. Michael Volpe.

Margaret Draucker will leave on Saturday morning for Mill Hall. She will meet Mrs. N. O. Draucker, of Pittsburgh at Lock Haven and together they will spend the Easter season with Mrs. Wm. Harmon and family of Mill Hall.

WOODLAND

The U B Church people are to be congratulated on their fine church basement which they have recently received at the cost of considerable labor and money. The boys desire to thank the girls for the lunch, which certainly was a fine one.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Seth E. Gordon, Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Game Commission, made a fine address before the State Conservation Council at State College, March 30th, from which we take the following extracts which should interest all Clearfield county sportsmen. Read it. It is worth while:

The Game Commission has been successful in gradually moulding public sentiment in favor of law observance feeding of wild life, etc., instead of our field officers being regarded as imposters in all parts of the state as they were in the beginning, they are now respected and their work thoroughly appreciated.

Term of Service
Under the present law, members of the board are appointed for a period of three years, which period, in the opinion of most sportsmen, is entirely too short. The appointments of two members expire each year, and since wild life conservation is not a matter of three, five or even ten years, the terms for members of the board should, in my judgment, be materially increased so as to guarantee a continuity of policy. Fortunately for the sportsmen of the Keystone state, Dr. Charles B. Penrose, the president has served continuously since February 1899; Mr. John M. Phillips, vice president, since November, 1905; Mr. W. B. McCaleb since February, 1911; Mr. John S. Speer, since December 1914, with a gap of almost two years in his services because of change of administration. Dr. H. J. Donaldson, since November 1916, and Mr. William S. Ellis, since January 1920. From this you will note that the majority of the members of the board have served continuously over a comparatively long period of years, but increasing the length of the term of appointment would always tend toward stabilization and continuity of policies—something absolutely necessary in any conservation work.

Appropriation to Game Commission
Appropriations made to the Game Commission from general funds of the Commonwealth from 1897 to 1912, inclusive were as follows:

(Postage and expressage only)
1897.....	800.00
1899.....	800.00
1901.....	3,000.00
1908.....	12,000.00
1905.....	20,000.00

1907.....	40,000.00
1909.....	60,200.00
1911.....	55,200.00
1913.....	97,400.00

Securing funds necessary to operate the department successfully always gave interested sportsmen and the Game Commission deep concern because the demands of public schools, hospitals, highways, etc., apparently were always given preference, with the result that the amount appropriated to the Game Commission from general funds was entirely inadequate. Finally the sportsmen of the state decided to support a Residence Hunters' License Law and were successful in having the present license law passed by the 1913 session of the Legislature. The funds paid in through this Act were accumulated in the State Treasury until June, 1915. Since that time the entire cost of the work of the Game Commission, including the payment of bounties by the Game Commission, since April 15th, 1915, amounting to almost $800,000.00, (including reimbursement of counties for bounties paid from July 25, 1913 to April 15, 1915, amounting to $287,465.00,) the purchase of lands for game refuge purposes in sections far remote from State forest lands amounting to approximately $125,000.00 and all other activities of the department has been paid out of funds collected through the Hunters' License Act and penalties and fees of various kinds. The disbursements for general purposes, bounties, etc., have run anywhere from $225,000.00 to $865,000.00 per year, and the department of the present time requires an average of about a half million dollars per year to conduct its many activities. The budget of the Game Commission for the 1922 fiscal year amounts to about $530,000.00.

CLEARFIELD MILK

This is the milk that the local school authorities are using for the kiddies that are under weight. There's a reason for this selection. It is not only the milk but it's the fact that every care is used to get the milk to the kiddies as pure a milk as can possibly be.

The Eternal Symbol

Easter, anniversary of the Resurrection and real birthday of Christian civilization, again is celebrated—as it has been for nearly 1900 years.

Primarily it is a religious festival, Christianity's rallying day on which the wise wandering-sheep return to the fold to hear inspiring sermons that give many a new lease on life.

The spirit of Easter is the spirit of the Resurrection—of spring—the awakening of life, hope and happiness after the long death of winter. In this sense, the Easter season is observed even in heathen countries. The budding lily and the Easter egg are symbols of the eternal re-birth of life.

Let us strive, this Easter, to resurrect the best that is in us and face the future with re-born hope, tolerance and Christian kindness to our fellows, striving to extend the glad spirit of Easter until it permeates all days of the year.

Some persons talk about "syncopated music" as though it were something altogether new. Syncopation in music is merely the shifting of the accent of the measure to an unaccented beat. The works of all the great classic masters abound in examples of syncopation. However, the tendency of exaggerated syncopation is an evidence, not of evolution of music but of dissolution, or at least degeneration. Syncopation is the prevailing characteristic of the music of barbarous and semi-civilized peoples. It strongly marked the music of the American Indians, and was incorporated into the general system of the Negro music of the South.

There is really nothing at all wrong about syncopation of itself, but along with syncopation there is too apt to be a reaction also to the other characteristics of barbarous music. In our day, this tendency finds expression in the barbaric monstrosity which has been called "jazz." It is an injustice to syncopation in music to refer to jazz, as syncopation alone, but the fact is also it would be hard to imagine jazz without the unrestrained syncopation.

And whatever may be said of certain varieties of dancing to music in which such syncopation appears, it nevertheless remains that legislation, as proposed by the city council of Savannah, Georgia, will never put an end to the use of any sort of music for dancing, any more than it could be expected to put an end to cubism in another art or the absence of good style in writing. It is not legislation that directs the tendencies of peoples, whether in popular amusement or otherwise.

It should not be forgotten, too, that many tendencies appear first on the stage and are afterward copied by the public; which shows how illogical it would be for a city to say that certain music should not be danced to in a hotel or public dancing place, but that it may be used in a theatrical performance. The place to attack dancing of the sort that is considered injurious to public morals is, of course, in the home. So long as fathers and mothers permit jazz dancing in their own homes, how can they be expected to support public sentiment against jazz?

"Gambling," says Sir Walter Scott, in the introduction to "St. Roman's Well," is "a vice which the devil has contrived to render all his own, since it is deprived of whatever pleads an apology for other vices, and is founded entirely on the cold-blooded calculation of the most exclusive selfishness."

The prevalence of the vice calls for some straight thinking concerning its iniquity. Too many persons, including both the "society" women who play bridge and the street urchins who roll dice in back alleys, do not consider gambling inherently wrong. Their attitude is that it is only to be condemned if one's losses are so great as to be embarrassing or cause those dependent upon the gambler to suffer. One often hears them say that they look upon their losses as no more than a reasonable outlay for the entertainment that they got from the game. Then, too, they are in the habit of saying loosely that all life is a gamble, that everyone is constantly taking hazards.

They ignore the fundamental fact that gambling at dice and cards is immoral because it is an attempt to win money by making somebody else lose it. There is no way for the gambler to profit except by causing his opponent to suffer.

This is the crux of the matter and must be emphasized if people are to be made to believe that gambling is an evil in itself, independently of whether one can afford to lose. Can one afford to win, or try to win, at the expense of another, should rather be asked.

FRANKLIN REDUCES PRICES TO LOWEST LEVEL IN SIX YEARS

Syracuse, April 14.—Prices of Franklin cars were announced today which are the lowest in the history of the Franklin Company's sixteen years manufacture of six cylinder cars, with the single exception of a four month period in 1916.

In the statement issued by H. H. Franklin, reduction as much as $1500 under war prices are indicated. Touring car at $1950 and Sedan car at $2850 are typical of the new schedule of prices applying to the entire Franklin line.

We determined to get under the price level of July 1914, the month the World War started, and also under the level of March 1917, the month before the United States entered the war," Mr. Franklin said today. "So today our basis is pre-war from any angle you take it. This move puts us in position to attain large volume in the quality car field."

"While coincident with this price reduction, we are reducing overhead wage rates will not be disturbed at present. As far as inventories are concerned, the Franklin Company shows a favorable condition due to selling well ahead of the industry as a whole during 1921."

A FINE CONCERT

The sacred concert given by the Sunday School orchestra of the West Side M. E. Church, in the church last evening was largely attended despite the storm. The program as published in this paper several days ago was carried thru with the exception of a few numbers that had to be omitted for unavoidable reasons.

Everyone in the audience was loud in their praises for the quality of music rendered both by vocalists and instrumentalists.

MRS. F. H. THURSTON

Mrs. F. H. Thurston, aged mother of George Thurston, well known business man of this city, died late yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Grant Odgen, of Hillsdale.

The funeral will be held from there on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial later.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

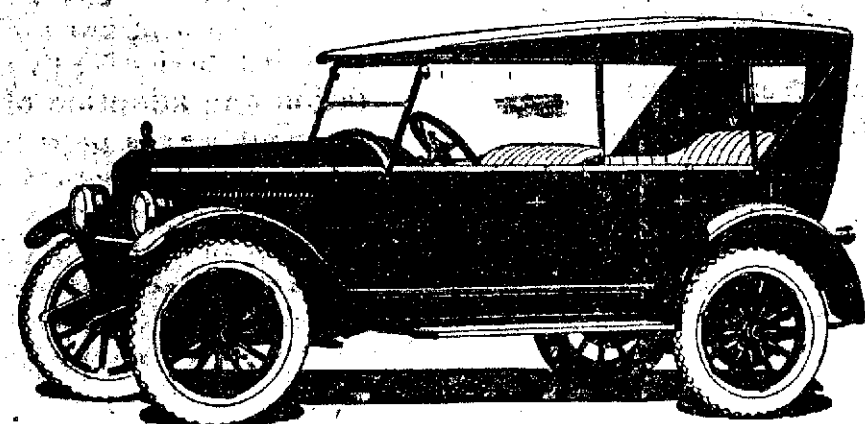

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial." — Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

Take home a regular Saturday night bag to the folks and they'll have something to eat over Sunday—it'll be a change from so many eggs.

We Want You To Know The Facts

A Statement By The Association of Bituminous Coal Operators of Central Pennsylvania

The strike of 45,000 union miners in District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., affects the large majority of industrial workers in Cambria, Clearfield, Jefferson, Indiana, Armstrong, Bedford, Huntingdon, Centre, Elk and Tioga counties. Indirectly it will be felt by every business and every family resident in these counties. The operators employing union labor in this district have no part in the direct causes of the strike now in progress in the Central Pennsylvania field. We asked the representatives of the miners' organization in District No. 2 to meet us in joint conference to formulate a wage scale to succeed that which expired March 31, 1922. They refused. In violation of their agreement to remain at work 30 days after the initial conference between miners and operators for the formulation and adoption of a wage scale agreement to succeed that of April 26, 1920, they went on strike April 1, 1922.

No demands of any kind have been made upon us. We have been given no opportunity to present our case. The miners of this district are on strike because one or two groups of operators of the Central Competitive Field refused to participate in a general conference. The miners and operators of the Central Pennsylvania Field were never participants in the Central Competitive Field joint conferences and have no relation whatever to it. The miners' organization of District No. 2, U. M. W. of A., has met us in joint conference for 23 years. Why the refusal to meet now?

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis is authority for the statement that the outlying districts, of which the Central Pennsylvania field is one, have a combined output much larger than that of the Central Competitive states. Any action, therefore, by the operators and miners of the Central Competitive Field would be minority action and the foundation of our great country is laid upon majority rule. Should not the criticisms or approval of either side be determined by the majority rather than the minority?

The United Mine Workers of District No. 2 and their officials are the same organization and officials who criticize the Pittsburgh and Southern Ohio operators for refusing to enter into joint conference and violating an alleged agreement when this same organization and its officials are guilty of the same conduct in Central Pennsylvania.

The signatories to the wage scale agreement effected in District No. 2, April 26, 1920, for the U. M. W. of A., were John Brophy, President; James Marks, Vice-President; Richard Gilbert, Secretary; U. Ed. Swartzentruber, Alex McMullen, Jos. Panciera, William L. Kane, Herman E. Carletti, Sam Nunemaker, William Donaldson, John Ghizzoni, Peter Ferrara, H. M. James. Below their signatures appears this clause:

"The fulfillment of this agreement is guaranteed by the International Union of the United Mine Workers of America and by the United Mine Workers of District No. 2, as well as by the officers of the International Organization and of the District."

The signatories of this clause are: John Brophy, President; James Marks, Vice-President; Richard Gilbert, Secretary, for District No. 2; John L. Lewis, President; Phillip Murray, Vice-President; William Green, Secretary, for the International Union.

Neither the International Union nor the District organization of U. M. W. of A., has seemingly concerned itself towards guaranteeing the fulfillment of the agreement, for in violation of Rule 25 of the agreement of April 26, 1922, the union miners of this district are now on strike. The district miners' officials have refused to meet us in joint conference and the International Union has forbidden a district conference, despite the fact that the Central Pennsylvania field has no connection with the Central Competitive field, whose operators are being so roundly taken to task for failure to meet the miners in conference.

In view of our inability to prevail upon the miners' organization of District No. 2 to meet us in joint conference for the formulation and adoption of a new wage agreement, and because of reduced wages paid by operators employing non-union labor, whose product we must meet in the open market, we have found it necessary to formulate an offer, or scale of wages, effective April 1, 1922, so that we may procure our fair share of orders in the open market and so that the miners employed by us may enjoy their fair share of work days. That offer, posted at the mines of the members of this association, follows:

THE RESURRECTION

1 And when the sabbath was past, they went from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they anything to any man; for they were afraid.

2 And very early in the morning they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun. And behold, there was an earthquake, and the stone was rolled away from the door of the sepulchre.

3 And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone? And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away.

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away. And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away.

5 And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a white garment, and went into the country.

6 And he said unto them, Be not afraid: for ye have seen him who was crucified. He is risen, as he said. Behold the place where he lay.

7 But go your way, and tell the disciples and Peter that he is risen, as he said. Behold the place where he lay.

8 And they went out quickly, and told every creature. — St. Mark, 16.

EASTER LESSON

LESSON TEXT—John 20:30-31.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is risen indeed.—Luke 24:7.

PRIMARY AND JUNIOR TOPIC—The First Easter.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why We Observe Easter Day.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Effect of Belief in the Resurrection.

I. Jesus Manifests Himself to the Disciples, Thomas Being Absent (vv. 19-20).

He appeared to several of His disciples at several different times during that day. This is the first appearance to the disciples as a body. The rumors of His several appearances on that day caused the disciples to assemble to talk over the matter. For fear of the Jews, they met in a private room and barred the door. While they were discussing the strange happenings of the day, the Lord mysteriously appeared before them with the greeting of good cheer, "Peace be unto you." He did not come with a sword, as He had in the past, but with a message of peace.

At His birth the angels announced, "Peace." Just before He took His departure, He said: "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give unto you" (John 14:27). "Let not your heart be troubled" (John 14:1), and now the first word after His resurrection is "Peace." Having culminated their fears, He gave them an unmistakable evidence of His resurrection. "And when He had so said, He showed unto them His hands and His side. Then were the disciples who when they saw the Lord? Their doubts needed to be scattered, and His peace needed to be upon them. Consider:

1. The disciples' commission (v. 21).

"As My Father hath sent Me, even so send I you." This commission was not simply to a class, as the eleven, but to all Christians. In Luke 21:38 we find that there were others there in that meeting besides the eleven when Jesus showed Himself to them and commissioned them, showing that the commission is not confined to a class or order, but is while as the Christian body itself. All Christians, therefore, are envoys and representatives of Christ. The exercise of this great function is not merely optional with the individual, but is obligatory upon him. The Lord placed it upon a plane with His own commission to the Father: "As My Father hath sent me so send I you."

2. The disciples' equipment (v. 22).

"He breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive ye the Holy Ghost." The mission of the disciple is a very great one, but every one who goes forth in its execution has the clothes of the power of a new life in the possession of His spirit. No one who has this equipment shall ever fail. The Lord's representatives have His life in them. The barrenness of our efforts is due to our failure to take His faith our equipment.

3. The disciples' authority (v. 23).

"Whosoever shall bind on earth, shall be bound on heaven; and whosoever shall loose on earth, shall be loosed on heaven." This authority was not by virtue of office, but by virtue of having the Holy Ghost. This would give the spiritual discernment to know who had or who had not repented, and consequently, to pronounce, pardon or refuse.

II. Jesus Manifests Himself to the Disciples, Thomas Being Present (vv. 24-29).

Thomas was absent at the first appearance of Jesus. His absence deprived him of a vision of the Lord. Absence from the assembly of believers always occasions loss. The other disciples go to Thomas at once with the glad news of the resurrection, but he will not believe. His stubborn disbelief is such that he doggedly declares that unless he sees the prints of the nails, etc., he will not believe. It is right to demand evidence, but to prescribe terms is rank unbelief. Note:

1. The Lord's kindness to those who have difficulties. Thomas deserved rebuke, but the Lord kindly supplied the evidence which he demanded.

2. The revelation of the Lord transfigures a doubter into a possessor.

III. The Conclusion of the Gospel (vv. 30-31).

In these verses John's arguments are summarized, and an explanation is given as to why he wrote this Gospel. Many other things could have been written, but these that he wrote he judged adequate to prove his point: To prove that (1) Jesus of Nazareth was the expected Messiah; (2) that He was divine—the very Son of God; (3) that those who believe on Him as God's only Son—the Messiah—would receive eternal life. Eternal life is in Him and only as He is appropriated by faith can men be saved.

What Christ Saw in the World.

CHAPTER XX

P. S. L. Comes Home

By nine o'clock the next morning, as soon as I'd swallowed a hurried bite of breakfast in the grill-room I wiped a camp-stool and a magazine out of the lounge and trotted upstairs to plant myself before the boss's door, determined that nobody should disturb him until he was good and ready to get up.

He turned out a little before twelve, looking sort of haggard and drawn, of course, and having some pretty bad burns on the side of his neck and on the backs of both hands. But he was all there, as usual, and he held a good, brotherly hand on my shoulder when he saw what I was doing.

"They don't make many of them like you, Jimmie," he said. And then: "Have you any news?"

I had, a little, and I gave it to him. Fred May had come tip-toeing up into my sentry corridor about ten o'clock to tell me that Mr. Perkins had arranged with the strikers to have a special go east with the major and Mrs. Shella and Collingwood's body to catch the Overland at Sedgwick; and I told the boss this, and that the train had been gone for an hour or more.

Also, I gave him a sealed package that a strange boy had brought up just a little while after May went away. We took the elevator to the grill-room for something to eat, and at table Mr. Norcross opened the package. It contained a bunch of affidavits, eleven of them in all, and there was no letter or anything to tell where they had come from.

"I Shall Always Believe That You Are One of God's Own Gentlemen"

He handed the papers over to me after he had seen what they were—sort of frowned across the table at me and said: "Do you know what it means—this surrender of those little affidavits, Jimmie?"

I said I guessed I did; that Hatch being dead, and Collingwood, too, there wasn't nerve enough left in the Red Tower outfit to keep up the fight; that the surrender of the affidavits was a kind of a plea for "let-up on our part."

"We'll begin to show them, in just about fifteen minutes," Jimmie was the short comment. "Reach over and get that telephone and tell Mr. Ripley and Mr. Billoughby that I want them to meet me at my office at half past twelve. Any news from the stalker?"

"Nothing," I told him, while "Central" was getting me Mr. Ripley's number. "Fred May said it was going on just the same, everything quiet and nothing doing, except that the wrecking train had gone out to pick up the scraps at Timber Mountain 'Y.' Klugg is bawling it, and the strikers manned it for him."

Nothing more was said until after I had sent the two phone messages, and then the boss broke out in a new spot. "Has anything been heard from Mr. Van Blitt?" he asked.

"Not that I know of."

Again he gave me that queer little scowl across the table.

"Jimmie, have you found out yet why Mr. Van Blitt insisted on quitting the service?"

I guess I guessed a little, though I tried not to.

"Mr. Van Blitt is one of the best friends you've got," I said. "He thought you needed this strike, and he wanted to go out among the pay-roll men and sort of help it along. He couldn't do a thing like that while he was an officer of the company and drawing his pay like the rest of us."

"I might have known—he as good as told me," was the reply, made kind of half absently, and then, short and quick: "How's the stock market? Have you seen a paper?"

I had seen both papers, at breakfast-time, but of course they had nothing startling in them except a half-minute account of the wreck at Timber Mountain 'Y,' grabbed off just before they went to press. They couldn't have anything later from New York than the day before. But Fred May had tipped me off when he came up to tell me about the Major Ken-

JORDAN'S

NASH INCREASES 50 PER CENT OVER THE LAST YEAR SALES

Increase in sales of Nash cars for the first quarter of the year of more than fifty percent are shown over the same period in 1921. The company's four and six cylinder car factories are oversold. There are on hand for April delivery orders for 5,025 cars, including sixes and fours, as against 3,307 orders for the same month last year.

These facts were brought out in an interview with C. V. Nash on his return from an extended trip through the North-west, West and South-west. "The first quarter of 1922 shows an increase in our sales, in numbers of cars, of more than fifty per cent over the same period for last year," Mr. Nash said. "With reference to our four-cylinder car, we have almost twice as many orders for April as we will be able to produce in the plant. The factory ran in March to its full capacity yet we carried over into March something like 400 or 500 unfilled orders.

"Every indication points to the fact that the four-cylinder car factory will carry over into May over 1000 unfilled orders."

There also are many unfilled orders for April at the Nash Motors six-cylinder car plant where every effort is being made to meet the heavy demand.

SPRINGTIME IS HOMETIME

And when you get the "hometime" fever there's only one thing to do. You should get in touch with someone who wants to sell their home and fortunately I am at present in a position to know of several people who want to sell their homes. Then, too, I know of several people who desire to buy homes and this is a grand opportunity to get together in my office.

Original "Bill of Health."
A bill of health is a certificate issued to the master of a vessel when clearing from a port. When no disease of an infectious nature exists in the port, the bill is known as a clean bill of health, if infectious disease is suspected or there is possibility of such, it is called a suspected bill, while in case of such disease existing, it is known as a foul bill. The expression "clean bill of health" is often applied to individuals, who, after a physical examination, are found in perfect health.

Round Chimneys Best.

A round chimney, while not so easy to build as a square one, has decided advantages over the latter, says the Scientific American. It greatly lessens the friction between the walls of the chimney and the rising gases, and has the smallest wall surfaces in proportion to the cross area. The efficiency of a round chimney 24 inches in diameter is almost as great as that of a square chimney 24 inches across.
